Personal Profile:

I am a documentary photographer, visual artist, educator and human being; I am constantly fascinated by the human condition. I take on stories that I truly believe in, something that can peak my interest and curiosity or even angers me, turning that energy outwards into creating work. Looking at the state of the human existence but concentrating on the resilience of the human spirit.

I have a profound belief that the still image has the ability to change people's minds. Even in today's forever changing fast paced world of the now culture.

My work as a photographer and educator, is intended to bring an understanding between cultures, races, religions and bridge the gap between humans rather than extending it. Bringing people closer to create a more thoughtfully educated world.

My work has been published in various publications online. I am a talented and persistent photographer who produces a high standard of work in an often-chaotic environments. I adapt efficiently and effectively in a team setting and have a willingness to learn and develop my skills further. I am able to adhere to strict deadlines and possess excellent time keeping skills.
